Osaka, August 31, 2020, Peach Aviation Limited (“Peach”, Representative Director and CEO: Takeaki Mori) announced today that it will be offering two new routes, each daily flights, on its winter schedule (beginning October 25) for Sapporo (New Chitose) - Okinawa (Naha) and Sendai-Okinawa (Naha), becoming the first LCC to do so. Ticket sales will start 11:00 a.m. today.

The Sapporo (New Chitose) - Okinawa (Naha) route will be Peach's longest domestic flight, spanning approximately 2,400 km and taking three to four hours. The Sendai - Okinawa (Naha) route will be the first LCC flight to connect the Tohoku region and Okinawa.

As a provider of public transportation, Peach will establish new local routes to support the resumption of travel and the revitalization of local economies while implementing thorough measures to prevent infection. In addition to our own infection prevention measures, we will also call for customer cooperation with infection prevention measures and the thorough implementation of preventive measures at flight destinations to drive the achievement of “Japan that can be traveled with peace of mind.” by bridging local areas.

Peach's Representative Director and CEO Mori states “We are able to announce these new routes today thanks to the significant support of the local governments at our destinations and everyone involved, so I offer my sincere gratitude. As a provider of public transportation, we will continue to implement thorough measures to prevent infection in cabins and airports and ask for the cooperation of our customers in preventing infection at our destinations so that we can offer safe and reliable flights.”

Peach will expand its domestic flight network under the theme “Bridging your Sky” and contribute to the revitalization of Japan’s society and economy.
